Everyone who participates in a Mambo Kings ride has a responsibility to follow the rules of the road/trail and extend care and consideration to the other ride participants as they do to all other road and trail users. All riders, without exception, must sign a waiver prior to participating in a Mambo Kings ride. Ride "organizers" may elect to offer suggested ride routes of varying length and point out challenging aspects of the various routes; however, are not expected nor encouraged to take on a role as ride leaders. Again, each participant is responsible for their own actions during a group ride, including knowing their limits with regard to bike handling skill, knowing the rules of the road or trail, and ensuring their bicycles are in proper working order. Participants are expected to be self-sufficient during the ride. Social events held in conjunction with group rides are looked upon as separate and distinct events that are defined by their hosts.

I agree to these terms and conditions.
